The first large scale air raid test with public participation to be held under the newly-organized civil defense authority will take place at 11 a. m. Friday.

Director Albert Cole Jr., of the civil defense agency, has issued instructions for the test in which he says that every individual person in the town at that hour should carry out the actions they would take in the event of an actual attack.

All schools, factories, business houses and stores will proceed with the air raid drills. Fire apparatus and personnel will disperse to designated stations in various parts of the town. Auxiliary police, who while on duty have the same police powers and authority of regular officers, will be on duty in the officially designated shelters.

The procedure in the downtown district, in order to carry out the test most efficiently, is as follows:

People in the street will go immediately to the nearest bomb shelter; employees and personnel of business places will lock their doors, take the recommended precautions and go to their own basements. Everyone should be under

Urges Motorists To Drive With Care

"As we are making plans to honor our war dead on Memorial day, we must give considerable thought to preserving the lives of those who will be on the highways on the holiday and during the fine weather to come," said Police Chief George A. Dane today.

Calling attention to the fact that pedestrians and motorists will be observing the day by taking short trips or starting vacations, Chief Dane said that it is imperative that each motorist accept his individual responsibility for driving his car with extreme care during this period of heavy traffic as well as for the mechanical fitness of his car.

Parents' Night

Members of troop 76, boy scouts, held a dedication service Saturday evening in their newly acquired meeting place, the community room. Parents were invited to the service which was under the direction of James Butler.

An impressive service included the lighting of 12 candles as the scout laws were given. The national anthem was sung and the Salute to the Flag given. The regular program for meetings followed.

After the program competition was held with parents vying for honors against the scouts. The parents were victorious in the knot tying contest, and Scout Payne won the concealed knot tying.

The scouts presented an exhibition of projects, the outstanding display being a beautiful Indian headdress made by Scout Grant of Osgood st. The Flaming Arrow patrol had the largest display with every boy showing one or more projects.

Refreshments were served by the mothers and a silver collection taken and added to the treasury.

Program Enjoyed

There was a large audience in the Union Congregational church Sunday evening to hear Uncle Elmer and his singers. The Rev. Paul E. Callahan, pastor, opened the service and introduced the choir which is well known because of its 18 years on radio.

The program consisted of gospel songs with solos, duets and trios, together with stories, poems and a sermonette by Uncle Elmer. The congregation joined in singing several selections. The service was sponsored by the Friendly Guild.

Whist Parties

A series of whist parties will be held by parents and friends of the boy scouts to add to the fund being raised to enable every member of the troop to spend a week at Camp Onway this summer. Anyone willing to cooperate should contact James Butler as soon as possible.

Attend Observance

Last Saturday several members of troop 19, girl scouts, with Mrs. Edna O'Hara, attended the Juliette Love observance at Camp Maude Eaton, Pomp's pond.

INFORMATION FOR VETERANS
Q—May I change schools after the July 25 GI Bill training cut-off date, provided I do not change my course?

A—Yes. You will be permitted to change schools, as long as your new school is approved to offer training to veterans, and as long as you remain in the same course. In order to change course, however, you must obtain prior VA approval, which is granted only under certain conditions.

Q—Is it too late for me to get additional national service life insurance? I had only $5,000 when I came out of service and I'd like to apply for $5,000 more.

A—You no longer may apply for new NSLI. The Servicemen's Indemnity and Insurance Acts of 1951, passed April 25, ended the issuance of new NSLI as well as new U. S. government life insurance for World War I veterans.

Q—I am on active duty in the army, and I have the $10,000 indemnity protection under the new law signed by the President late in April. Who gets the money if I die in service?

A—The money is payable only to surviving spouse, child or children, brother or sister or parent; and the insured may name one or more beneficiaries within their permitted class.

Memorial Day

Next Wednesday will be Memorial day when we pause for the moment to pay tribute to the memory of those departed ones who served our nation in time of war.

It is right and fitting that on this occasion we should think of them and the causes for which they fought.

As we do so it is hard to realize that, as was noted in this column a year ago, "despite the great words of oratory that year after year on Memorial day decry the great waste and suffering of war, men and nations go on with the selfish ambitions which lead to inevitable difficulties and misunderstandings that result in bitterness, the destruction, the unhappiness or armed conflict."

Since then our country has become involved in another bloody conflict with its mounting casualties emphasizing the waste of war, and its attendant bickerings pointing to the great differences and misunderstandings among men and nations.

Yet as the graves of the sailor and soldier dead are being decorated next Wednesday we can still hope and pray for the time when "we have peace and unity within our own borders and in the family of nations which sorely need relief from strife and turmoil to follow the peaceful pursuits of mankind."

Saving The Wounded

Deaths from wounds in the Korean War have been at the lowest rate in history. This is a tribute to the magnificent work which the doctors, nurses and medical corpsmen attached to our fighting forces are doing under the most difficult and dangerous conditions.

But there is even more to it than that—and it is found in the high protein diet of American soldiers. Their rations include about a pound of meat a day, and meat is one of the best of the limited number of sources of whole protein. According to Dr. I. S. Ravdin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and formerly a brigadier general in the medical corps, the amazing success in saving the wounded has resulted in part from "the recognition that high grade animal protein in diets may be almost as important as anti-biotics (germ-killing medicines) in healing wounds faster."

This comes hard on the heels of the experience during World War II, when the enormous value of protein to troops was proven. Then, as now, military personnel received rations high in meat content. It was found, further, that protein has a definite beneficial effect on energy and morale, no less than in helping the sick and wounded to regain their health.

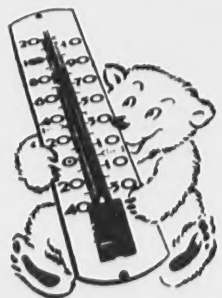

What is true of the soldier is true of the civilian. Research has firmly established the fact that large amounts of protein are needed by almost everyone. This is now strongly advocated by the leading medical authorities on dietetics. It marks a step forward on the march toward a stronger, healthier people—as the experience in Korea is demonstrating.

Crime exists because of failures — failure to prevent delinquency, and failure to correct delinquency. Beyond that, there is a failure to prevent crime, a failure to detect crime, a failure to prosecute crime, a failure to properly deal with crime and a failure to take the profit out of crime.—J. Edgar Hoover.

INTERNATIONAL WHIRLIGIG — By John Fisher

Aroused America Stalling Red Adventure In Korea

The addition of new iron to the will of Washington, as revealed by General Marshall, and others, forecasts with more assurance than previously the ultimate failure of the Red Chinese effort against the United States.

Public response to the bold MacArthur spirit—even though some of his controversial proposals for expanded Asian war were pigeonholed—has stiffened the spine of the Administration. It also has impelled our allies to soft-pedal opposition to vigorous measures.

As a consequence, Mao Tse-tung's major objectives are less likely to be reached. The opinion of many in Washington is that the Red adventurer invaded Korea to: 1. Split the Allies. 2. Capture Korea. 3. Gain Formosa as the price of peace. 4. Annihilate Chiang Kai-shek as the fountainhead and symbol of organized resistance. 5. Defeat America, thus ruining our prestige and weakening our power against Russia.

The adamant American conscience, backed by our fists, has blocked every one of those paths. Our problem no longer is over quitting; it is how long before we risk Soviet intervention by delivering a knock-out punch.

Chiang's following on Formosa received a reprieve from the Truman Administration, which previously had given the impression that, in the final tragic scene, it might not interfere with the carrying out of the death sentence on Nationalist survivors by a vengeful Mao.

Chiang Still Unpopular With Democracies

The Chiang regime still is repugnant to Americans who accept tales of its former incompetence, corruption and dictatorship. The British think the Kuomintang remnant has less popular support on the Asiatic mainland than before. Both Washington and London have been disposed to scorn the Generalissimo.

This low estimate of his effectiveness, strangely, is not shared by Peiping. The communist hierarchy, itself, rates him as a formidable enemy with influence so deep that a current Red objective is to uproot it as well as to plot his extermination in Formosa. One of the reasons for Red fear of the outcast commander is that he made Chinese like America.

"Chiang Kai-shek bandits," writes Peng Chen, Politburo member, "did their utmost to infect the Chinese people with the malady of pro-Americanism and worship of American ideas, with the result aged 77 years.

that some people, lacking political sense, have become deeply drugged with reactionary propaganda."

The Red chieftain admits that friendship for America is so universal that one of the top targets since the revolution has been to "wipe out the last vestige of this spirit. In the present 'resist America and aid Korea movement,'" he declares, "we are accomplishing this historic task. The swashbuckling American compradores and pro-American elements have now become rats for all to beat."

Chinese Deny False Gods

But this ambitious project grows more difficult daily. Despite advantage to Peiping in an indecisive Korean war and in consolidation of its grip on the Chinese governmental machinery, millions of Chinese continue to hate their Red masters and seek to throw off the heavy yoke.

Chen confesses that a major internal program is "the suppression of counter-revolutionaries, liquidation of enemy spies, bandits, special agents, local riff-raff and other elements. . . . The scum of the nation and the foes of the people, are either organized or supported by the American-Chiang gang." Special agents, he maintains, are being trained at Saco, a center operated by Americans in conjunction with Chinese rebels.

Reports from Nationalist, Hong Kong and communist sources bear witness of the extent of new opposition to the Red despotism and to the wholesale killings in South-Central, Southwest and East China in a desperate attempt to eradicate resistance.

From Catholic outposts comes fresh evidence of attempts by Peiping to sever church ties with Rome. Chinese Catholics are compelled by armed guards to carry in parades posters displaying insulting caricatures of the Pope. They are warned of drastic punishment unless they join the new separatist "Independent Christian Church" set up by the godless government.

But China's four million Catholics refuse to bow the knee to a Red Baal. Inspiring tales of heroism in face of persecution also are related of American Protestant clergymen and their followers. One missionary, after 25 years of service to down-trodden coolies, was driven from the country because he prayed for local victims of firing squads.

A Badly Frightened Man

Sporadic trials and executions began last fall. On Feb. 20, 1951, Peiping announced 21 regulations, subjecting offenders to imprisonment for life or to execution for almost every conceivable lack of sympathy for the state, such as not "doing meritorious service to atone for previous crimes" against communism.

INTERNATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

According, even, to the Red press, more than 700 college professors, factory managers and local leaders were killed shortly thereafter in Shanghai, Hankow and Nanking. Figures on legal slayings all over China run into thousands, with heaviest tolls in rural areas where resistance to grain requirements and high taxes is greatest.

If only a part of the mass murder stories is accurate, the reports disclose the greatest slaughter of political opponents since the Russian Bolshevik massacres ordered by Lenin.

Such savagery is more than blood lust. It starkly reveals Mao as a badly frightened man. He is in terror lest his mortal enemy, Chiang, either returns or is to be supplied by America with the means to organize counter-revolutionary activities.

The bulk of Mao's best troops is being chewed up in the Korean grinder. An increased embargo is strangling trade necessary for his over-strained economic system. Rifts are being cemented in the alliance of free nations.

And an aroused America, determined to put an end to the stalemate in Korea, is in a mood to risk Kremlin threats and to hurl bigger thunderbolts. Mao's earlier streak of luck seems to be running out.

Mathematics Exam.

Janet Fieldhouse and Scott Gerish of the senior class took a math. prize examination in Lawrence last Saturday, May 19. This two-hour exam on algebra, geometry and elementary trigonometry, was given for the first time by the Mathematics club of the University of Massachusetts.

The purpose of the exam, sponsored for high schools throughout the commonwealth, was 1) to stimulate interest in math in high school, 2) to afford recognition for superior ability, and 3) to demonstrate the interest of the university in mathematics.

The state winner will receive a gold medal, and the regional winners, silver medals. Certificates of merit will also be given to all those who attain a certain standard of excellence.

Experts Agree Correct Grinding Gives You Better Coffee Flavor

Experts agree that fresh coffee, ground exactly right for the way you make coffee, gives you better flavor. Homemakers evidently agree, because the coffee that outsells any other offers "Custom Ground" service. There is no extra charge for this, either. In fact, compared with "factory ground" coffees of like quality, this American favorite offers substantial savings. What coffee is it? Superb A&P Coffee—the coffee of magnificent flavor. Try it! You'll agree with the experts—Custom Ground A&P Coffee does taste better.

Woman Juror List Prepared

A tentative list of women jurors has been prepared by the selectmen in compliance with recent legislation admitting women to jury duty.

The list was turned over to Town Clerk George H. Winslow after Monday night's meeting and he will send each a questionnaire in order to determine their eligibility to serve.

Recommended by the state secretary's office the form to be filled includes several questions relating to marital status and the number of children they have in their care who are under 16 years old. The board voted to deny the application of Garabed Dargoonian for a permit to store gasoline on North Main street.

Duncan Cairnie, 107 N. Main st., was appointed to the reserve police list and the civil service commission notified.

V. will proceed to the housing project off Morton street to dedicate Memorial circle, and then go to West Parish cemetery to decorate graves of veterans; the V. F. W. and Legion groups will go to Spring Grove cemetery for services at the veterans' lots, after which the V. F. Red Cross Honors Volunteer Helpers

Andover chapter members of the American Red Cross last Monday afternoon relaxed a little from its responsibilities to others in order to pay brief tribute to its own volunteers.

The reception room of the Square and Compass club, made available through the generosity of the club, was pleasantly filled with callers during the two hours of open house. The canteen corps, very smart in their blue uniforms and caps, provided and served punch and cookies under the direction of Mrs. C. D. MacDuffie, chairman.

Many To Attend Holy Hour Service

A large delegation from St. Augustine's Holy Name society are expected to attend the Holy Hour services at Braves Field next Sunday evening.

As out-of-town societies are requested to go by bus instead of private cars because of the traffic congestion at the park, plans are being made to have one or more busses leave the church at 6 p. m. Members are asked to make bus reservations through James D. Doherty, president, or by calling the rectory, not later than 6 p. m. Friday.

Delegations are expected to be in their places by 7.15 p. m.

ground level and stay there until the "all clear" is sounded.

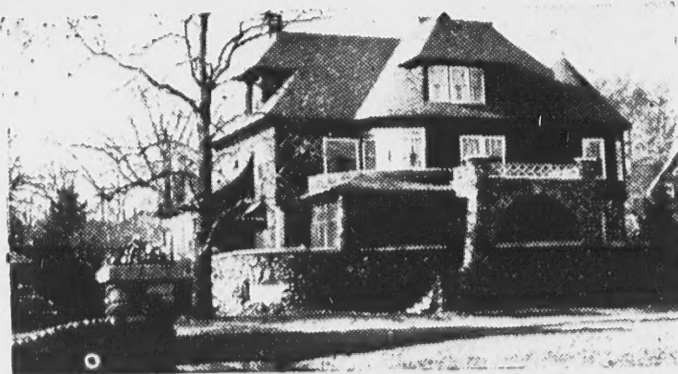

Because of the heavy "through" traffic automobiles in motion will not be stopped, but those already parked will be required to stay in place until the test is over. Chief George A. Dane and the police department will cooperate by disregarding all parking meter violations from 11 to 11.30 p. m. The test will last only 15 minutes.

Director Cole says it must be strongly emphasized that no smoking, lighting of matches, cigarette lighters or other fire or flame will be permitted in any bomb shelter at any time.

People at home should follow the instructions given in the booklet recently distributed through schools, copies of which are still available at the civil defense office in the town house.

Eglantine Farms' 1950 Ford F-1 Pickup stayed on the job in all weather, on all kinds of roads, in the nationwide Ford Truck Economy Run. Over 5,000 Ford Truck operators took part in the run.

Russell Deener of Eglantine Farms* drove a Ford F-1 Pickup during the Economy Run, got black-and-white proof that "the Ford costs less to run than any truck we ever owned."

*Address supplied on request.

"We haul feed for 14 1/5¢ a mile!"

"I am sold on the Power Pilot economy of Ford Trucks," says the manager of Eglantine Farms...

"The performance of our Ford F-1 Pickup far surpassed our expectations," reads the statement from Eglantine Farm & Feed Service. "The Ford Truck Power Pilot gives us more power from less gas." Eglantine

Farms operate eight Ford Trucks, two trucks of another make.

Their Economy Run records show that in 12,994 miles of the Run, the F-1 Pickup hauled an average load of 1,039 lbs., had no repairs, cost them a total of $233.65 for gas, oil and maintenance (they got regular service from their Ford Dealer). Result—a running cost of only 14 1/5¢ a mile!
